50103-35 16a) The Local Plan must meet the needs of the Gypsy and Traveller community. Accordingly, should large scale housing sites be required to include an element of Gypsy and Traveller provision as part of the masterplanning of the site?

I'm not sure that the two very different types of people with completely different cultures would actually want to settle near to each other 50103-36 16b) What other suitable locations for Gypsy and Traveller pitches are there?

Perhaps more should be available for those who want short stays perhaps near to towns as this is where they seem to want to stop when staying short term.

16a) The Local Plan must meet the needs of the Gypsy and Traveller community. Accordingly, should large scale housing sites be required to include an element of Gypsy and Traveller provision as part of the masterplanning of the site?

the Cambridge Sub Region Travellers Needs Assessment (CSTNA) carried out in 2005, the 2006 East Cambridgeshire and Fenland Gypsy and Traveller Needs Assessment and 'Children's Voices' a report examining the views and experiences of young Gypsies and Travellers carried out in 2006. Concludes that there was a need for more sites of all kinds and that the preference was for small, self-owned long-stay sites for family groups, preferably on the edge of a village, near established Gypsy and Traveller communities.

The East Cambridgeshire and Fenland Needs Assessment found that the majority of Gypsies and Travellers on private and council sites were content with their location. Views were expressed about not being located immediately adjacent to existing housing to avoid potential problems between the two cultures. 'Children's Voices' found that threat of repeated eviction was experienced by some children on unauthorised sites and contributed to children's insecurity and vulnerability

Health and Wellbeing - the main problems expressed in the East Cambs and Fenland Needs Assessment were difficulties obtaining permanent registration, a lack of awareness of Travellers on health issues and the health system, a lack of information in an appropriate format and a lack of awareness among health professionals of Traveller culture.

The Gypsy and Traveller population face a number of inequalities. These can be summarised as follows: Accommodation 1. Lack of secure accommodation is the biggest issue facing Gypsy and Traveller communities in the East of England and many are homeless. Eviction and enforced mobility are key factors preventing access to education, health care, training and work opportunities. 2. Selecting the right location for a site is a key element in supporting good community relations and maximising its success. Well-run, authorised sites can be effectively integrated into local communities. 3. It appears that the quality of public site provision is variable within the County (raised at Strategic Traveller Co-ordination Group). This may also apply to privately owned sites. 4. The production of a model SLA for site management may improve consistency and reduce inequalities between different sites. Therefore Public Health would support such a policy which requires large scale housing sites to include an element of Gypsy and Traveller provision as part of the masterplanning of the site.

Not clear what is meant by 'large scale'. Such provision should be created where demand exists but there might be opposition to it on sites adjacent to other housing. Developers might be required to make such provision at other sites.

Gypsy and park homes are both classed as highly vulnerable and are inappropriate within flood zone 3. This poses a significant constraint to the allocation of such sites within the district. Some recent appeals have allowed residential caravans in flood zone 3 where other material considerations outweigh flood risk. The Council will need to consider this and determine whether there is scope to include a policy to ensure that future caravan developments are located in safe and sustainable locations.

Care needs to be given to the allocation of any sites for houseboats. Houseboats can be vulnerable to high river flows so clear criteria will need to be set out on where it is appropriate.

This subject needs more thought and research.

Insisting on traveller provision will put off many developers, and buyers of the other properties. And many travellers don't want to be an 'inclusive element'.

No, travellers would want to live there anyway

50085-40 16b) What other suitable locations for Gypsy and Traveller pitches are there?

Not known, although most of the traveller community are wealthy, choosing to live a nomadic lifestyle, Brexit will also cut down the number travellers due to the Irish travelers unlikely to come to the UK as much.

I don't think that would work. The travelling community likes to be amongst their own and therefore prefer sites away from other housing.

50088-41 16b) What other suitable locations for Gypsy and Traveller pitches are there?

Don't know of any.

The Council believes that additional sites should only be considered when those currently provided, and underutilised, are full.

50030-40 16b) What other suitable locations for Gypsy and Traveller pitches are there?

The Elm community has a significant proportion of sites used by the Gypsy and Traveller community which impacts significantly on the local school provision.

Careful consideration should be given when allocating areas for new sites to ensure there is the correct infrastructure including provision for local for school places.
